

INFLIXIBLE IS READY FOR HER RECORD RUN

Great British Battleship-Cruiser Has Over 3,000 Tons of Coal in Her Bunkers and 720 Tons of Oil in Her Tanks. Capable of Thirty Knots an Hour.

New York, October 7.—When Admiral Seymour's flagship, the inflixible, leaves her anchorage at the Hudson River Saturday morning, she will be equipped in every way for a record run across the Atlantic. The great English battleship will carry 3,000 tons of coal, which will enable it to run across the ocean and an additional 720 tons of oil. None of the officers who admit that the inflixible is out for a record, but it is generally understood that the trip to Portsmouth will be taken advantage of to test the inflixible. She has already made a record, having broken a record, but it is admitted that she is capable of 22 and even 30 knots an hour.

DUNCAN MARSHALL, Manager.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1909.

The Calgary Albertan remarks that "One of the advantages of the city of Edmonton is that it is the only city in the province where the corner stone laying 'appearing in Alberta papers' is that they can be used for anything else 'quite as conveniently.'"

It is well that the city council have decided to prepare estimates of the probable cost of the project for the proposed C. P. R. bridge and to submit the project to a vote. The estimates are, of course, but only estimates, but as each side of the subject has some correct idea of the cost, so far as the cost can be ascertained beforehand. The vote, too, will settle the matter for the time being, and finally. The project has been before the city now for some years. It seems to have taken about as favorable shape as it is likely to take. Nothing, therefore, is likely to be gained by delay. The company, too, intimate that they are anxious to begin work on the bridge. Of the depth of their anxiety there may be some reasonable doubt for they have been backing and filling for a couple of years, and it is not calculated to convince the public of their desire to come in speedily. If, however, they are now eager to enter a protracted discussion of the subject might delay matters, or might be held to do so. If they are only feigning activity as a means of getting up to assume their liabilities, the verdict from the people should leave them without this mask. Whether the project is accepted or rejected the company will be relieved of any necessity to delay operations in order to see what the city will do.

The United Aid is an organization of persons interested in relief work whose aim is to make the work more effective. Hitherto relief effort has been carried on by various organizations and by individuals. Necessary it was sporadic in character. Over-laying occurred here and there, while sometimes deserving and needy cases were not attended to. The rule that "What is everybody's business is nobody's business," holds here as elsewhere. The purpose of the present organization is to combine the resources available for relief work, and to systematize the work itself. The result should be greater efficiency and less waste. The city council have, quite wisely, placed the aid in a similar position regarding city relief work to that occupied by the Board of Trade in regard to city publicity. A grant has been made the association on condition that it undertake this work for the city. It is to be hoped private subscriptions will supplement this by whatever amount may be found necessary to meet the calls. The United Aid is not, of course, a new departure in relief work, save in the local field. Other cities have very generally adopted the plan as a means of bringing order out of the chaos of independent and uncoordinated effort. It has been found to accomplish much good.

An archipelago in the Arctic may not be of very much material value to its possessors, but we fancy it is more to be desired than the larks on which two United States gentlemen claim to have planted the flag of their country. For one thing it is more visible. An island country stays where one leaves it. Not so with the Polar ice field. Peary says he reached the Pole a year after Cook says he got it. Yet Peary says he found nothing of the flag planted by his alleged predecessor. All this may be true, for the ice fields are in constant motion. Indeed Peary declared when he started his last voyage that he had failed in the previous one only because he did not make allowance for the "Polar drift" and the ice carried him away from his goal. It is different with our new archipelago. It is there, anchored securely to the foundation of things. Hence in the wisdom of Bernier, Peary and Cook are trying to persuade people that they are telling the truth, not it seems, with phenomenal success. And each in the future has to admit that his evidence is not absolutely without gaps. Not so with Bernier. He has a quartette of scientists, a shipload of sailors and a live mascot to back up his claims. And if any Thomas still doubts, the Captain will be glad to take him up and show him the Canadian banner, flying where he "To heart's desire, perched it" on the peaks of Peoria. Wise is the captain who put not his faith in icebergs, but tied it to stout oakens flag poles planted in the enduring rock. Peary and Cook may settle between them the point of who first reached the ice-covered but uncharted water where the mermaids meet. But from that point down to the 4th parallel Mr. Jack Cunuck is proprietor.

A GIGANTIC BUSINESS OPENING.
 A short time since it was noted in these columns that a league had been formed in Germany whose object is to secure a lowering of the tariff which has practically prohibits Canadian products going into that country. The league, of course, is entering on its campaign not for the purpose of benefiting Canadian producers by providing them with a new market, but for that of enabling the German people to buy what they want that Canada produces at lower prices than they are now forced to pay. None the less, the movement is one to which Canadians could with all success and whose success would be to the benefit of a simultaneous movement in this country looking toward the betterment of trade relations with Germany. It was intimated some time ago that the Government were considering the matter of arranging or trying to arrange a trade treaty with Germany somewhat along the lines of that recently concluded with France. Nothing has been heard of the project for some time, the delay in securing the ratification of the French treaty by the Senate of the Republic perhaps giving a temporary setback to the whole move for such trade arrangements. How much Canada stands to benefit from a treaty with Germany was indicated by figures previously published showing the annual imports into that country of goods which Canada either does produce or is well adapted to produce. Further figures are now available which indicate still more clearly the tremendous market to which such treaty would give us access. Germany's imports for 1907 included—

 Totalled, these figures show that Germany last year imported to the value of 600 million dollars, goods which Canada produces or could probably produce in surplus quantities. Of this total, agricultural and animal products amounted to 492 millions, manufactures to more than 5 millions, furs to 20 millions, minerals to 5 millions, timber to 64 millions and the products of the sea to 18 million dollars. When it is remembered that last year we sent to Germany only some 2 million dollars worth of home-produced goods of all kinds the advantages of the opening of that market to our farmers, ranchers, manufacturers, miners and fishermen does not need to be argued. All the classes of goods enumerated we produce every year in amounts larger than the home market requires. In each of them our annual output is capable of expansion to an almost boundless degree if the inducement of a ready market were given to the resources. Great as is the British market we have to meet there competition from every country in the world. The German market, on the other hand, is goods could go through there: at lower prices than is demanded from others we would not only be able to sell all we could supply but could sell it at better prices than our competitors. Thus, we would have a virtual

BIG DISPLAY OF BLANKETS

Values Simply Unbeatable
It would be hard indeed to find more interesting news than this announcement, coming as it does just at the very time when you are needing blankets. Our celebrated Hudson's Bay blanket is undoubtedly the best in the world. Long before the advent of the white man as a settler in these parts, and when the H. B. Co. shared with the Indian the spoils of the chase, this blanket was supplied in exchange for furs. It has stood the test of ages, and today not only the Indian, trader or prospector, but almost every household uses the Hudson's Bay blanket. Note these prices:

3-point 8 lbs. all wool, white, green, red and blue, per pair..... $6.50

3½-point 10 lbs. all wool, white, green, red and navy, per pair..... $8.00

4-point 13 lbs. all wool, white, striped, green, red and navy, per pair..... $9.00

NOTE—The Hudson Bay Co. are the only firm in Canada who stock this blanket. There are many imitations, but only one genuine.
